

Should You Go to Work?

|                                                                                                                                                | Go to work | Stay home |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|-----------|
| 1. Your son has a bad cold and needs to stay home from school.                                                                                 |            |           |
| 2. Your sister had a baby last week. She wants you to help at home.                                                                            |            |           |
| 3. You have the flu.                                                                                                                           |            |           |
| 4. Your father is very sick in the hospital, and you know he wants to see you.                                                                 |            |           |
| 5. You have a doctor's appointment for 4pm. Your shift begins at 3pm.                                                                          |            |           |
| 6. Your uncle is visiting you from your country.                                                                                               |            |           |
| 7. You have a bad cold. You call your boss to say that you are staying home. Your boss says she really needs you at work.                      |            |           |
| 8. You don't feel sick, but you are very tired.                                                                                                |            |           |
| 9. Your car won't start                                                                                                                        |            |           |
| 10. You broke your leg yesterday.                                                                                                              |            |           |
| 11. You have to go to your grandfather's funeral.                                                                                              |            |           |
| 12. You are going to go to a family meeting in another state. You will be gone a week, but you have used all your vacation days for this year. |            |           |

